F1 Maintains Strong Free Cash Flow Generation

- Attractive margins and very low capital intensity
- Largest cost item (team payments) primarily variable
- Advance payments of promotion revenue can result in quarterly working capital swings, which are primarily a function of timing of receipts
- Estimated future cash taxes for F1 (primarily UK): single digit percentage of adjusted OIBDA (as reported)
- Significant reductions in interest expense since acquisition contributes to strong levered free cash flow conversion

Understanding F1 FX Exposure

- Roughly 80% of F1 revenue US$ denominated
  - P&L exposed to both transactional and translational moves in FX
  - Team payments impacted by transactional FX gains and losses, thereby sharing in exposure with F1
- Natural offset to GBP and EUR exposure through cost structure of business, including:
  - Personnel & other corp overhead (GBP)
  - Paddock Club delivery contract (EUR)
  - F2/F3 cost (EUR)
  - Travel (GBP / EUR)
- Net long positions in GBP and EUR
  - Sell surplus AUD and CAD annually
- Total impact of FX swings (including effect on team payment calculation) relatively modest
  - Constantly monitoring and evaluating alternatives to address FX exposure

- USD 78%
- GBP 13%

F1 Financials – Revenue Recognition

Calendar and timing of races has significant impact on quarterly reported results

- Promotion revenue recognized on day of each race
- Broadcast revenue recognized pro-rata across race calendar, with some variation due to FX movements
- Advertising & Sponsorship revenue:
  - Race specific revenue recognized at time of race (i.e. title sponsorship, trackside packages)
  - Elements related to all races recognized pro-rata across race calendar (i.e. hospitality, fan experiences)
  - Annual rights recognized evenly across four quarters (i.e. rights to use footage, logo usage)
- Other revenue:
  - Race specific revenue recognized at time of race when services delivered (i.e. travel, freight, hospitality)
  - Elements related to all races recognized pro-rata across race calendar (i.e. TV production activities, technical support)
  - Annual rights recognized evenly across four quarters (i.e. annual OTT subscriptions)
  - F2 and F3 (and predecessor series) have typically had 3-4yr vehicle cycles
   - Revenue and cost tends to be elevated at start of cycle with sale of chassis and initial stock parts
F1 Financials – Cost Recognition

- Team payments
  - Expense recognized pro-rata across race calendar
  - Cash payments:
    - Variable prize fund paid in fairly even installments across months of March – November with “true-up” points
    - Final true-up balance paid post-season (February)
    - Fixed prize fund paid in even installments across months March – December
- F1 net operating cash inflows are highest in Q1
  - Driven by receipt of advance payments, while majority of costs (incl. team payments) paid in arrears
F1 Tax Considerations

- F1 expects to be UK taxpayer in 2019 and future years
  - F1 cash generating entities are UK based
  - UK interest expense deductions are limited to 30% of UK EBITDA

- Estimated future cash taxes for F1 (primarily UK) expected to be single digit percentage of adjusted OIBDA (as reported)

- Liberty does not expect to pay US income tax on future repatriation of F1 earnings for many years

- Purchase accounting amortization considerations
  - Liberty’s acquisition in January 2017 did not result in basis step-up for UK income tax purposes
  - GAAP amortization from purchase accounting is not tax deductible in either UK or US
Composite LMC – It All Adds Up

- 5/9/06: LCAPA (“LMC”) tracking stock issued

Non-GAAP Information

This presentation includes presentations of adjusted OIBDA and net operating income for Braves Holdings, which are non-GAAP financial measures, together with reconciliations to operating income, as determined under GAAP.

Liberty Media defines adjusted OIBDA as operating income (loss) plus depreciation and amortization, stock-based compensation, separately reported litigation settlements, restructuring, acquisitions and other related costs and impairment charges. Liberty Media believes adjusted OIBDA is an important indicator of the operational strength and performance of its businesses, including each business’ ability to service debt and fund capital expenditures. In addition, this measure allows management to view operating results and perform analytical comparisons and benchmarking between businesses and identify strategies to improve performance.

Liberty Media defines net operating income as property revenue less direct property operating expenses, which approximates Adjusted OIBDA less management expenses. Liberty Media believes net operating income is an important indicator of the operational strength and performance of its real estate businesses. In addition, this measure allows management to view operating results and perform analytical comparisons and benchmarking between businesses in the real estate industry.

Because adjusted OIBDA and net operating income are used as measures of operating performance, Liberty Media views operating income as the most directly comparable GAAP measure. Adjusted OIBDA and net operating income are not meant to replace or supersede operating income or any other GAAP measure, but rather to supplement such GAAP measures in order to present investors with the same information that Liberty Media's management considers in assessing the results of operations and performance of its assets.

Please see the Appendix of the Braves presentation for reconciliations of adjusted OIBDA to operating income (loss) and net operating income to operating income (loss) calculated, in each case, in accordance with GAAP for Braves Holdings.

NOTES:

1. Hotel NOI assumes 100% ownership. Hotel is a 50% JV and actual earnings are recorded on the equity basis on accounting.
2. NOI = total property revenue less direct property opex. Approximates Adjusted OIBDA excluding ownership expenses.
3. Stabilized NOI is for Phase 1 only; assumes property is fully leased (95% for retail).
4. See reconciliation of FY19 YTD NOI to GAAP Operating Income in the Appendix.
